BUSINESS OF THE NAVAJO TRIBAL COUNCIL
June 13 to June 29, 1955

Report by General Superintendent G. Warren Spaulding:

Mr. Spaulding told the council about the educational accomplishments on the Navajo. Most schools closed on May 20. Three schools operated through June. They had opened late because of construction.

11,181 pupils were enrolled in Navajo Agency schools last year. 6,607 were enrolled in off-reservation schools. Of these 1,100 were 19 years of age or older. 1,027 pupils lived in Bureau dormitories and went to public schools. Other public schools near or on the reservation enrolled 3,900. This number will be increased this fall when the public schools at Ganado and Thureau open. Last year 159 Navajos were enrolled in college or vocational schools.

Mr. Spaulding also stated that during the month of May 38 persons left the reservation for permanent relocation.

In irrigation 1,200 acres of new farm lands on the Hogback will be ready by August 1.

Recommendation for Navajo Grazing Regulations are waiting for Washington approval.

44 stock wells were contracted to be dug in 1955. 26 were completed. Eighteen 50,000 gallon storage tanks are to be set up. Half of these were to be up before June 30.

185 Conservation projects were put in on the Navajo land last year. These were 68 livestock watering places, six detention dams, 12 erosion control structures, 15 water spreading systems, 12 small farm irrigation water storage ponds, 69 jetty projects and 3 juniper eradication project.

Mr. Spaulding said traders could help Navajo sheep growers in filing applications for the wool incentive payments.

There will be a survey of Navajo timber resources. Two firms will look over the timber and tell the Navajo tribe how to develop it the best way.

Revenue to the tribe and individuals from mineral resources are oil and gas $1,597,086.30 on Tribal lands and $98,714.50 on allotted lands. Income from uranium and vanadium was $640,000 on tribal lands and $25,275.00 on allotted lands. This was a total of $2,363,075.

During 1955, 920 prospecting permits were given to non-Indians, 791 were given Indians. 87 permits for drilling and exploration were approved. 81 assignments of mining permit were also given, Mr. Spaulding said.

Paul Jones Delivered his report:

Mr. Paul Jones, Chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council reported that there are many problems in the mining operations. These slow up production.

He said the state of California opposed the Upper Colorado Project.

Mr. Jones while in Washington had taken up the problem of contractors using qualified Navajos. He said many Navajos were out of work since the force account method of construction stopped. Mr. Jones said that the people to whom he talked in the Indian Office as well as individual Congressmen were interested and willing to help with this problem.

Budget:

The Tribal Council provided $118,602 for the 1956 fiscal year. This allows for 4 quarterly meetings. $54,230 was allowed for the operation of the Advisory Committee.

$94,990 was approved for Officers and General Offices.

$5,820 was approved for Committee on Budget and Finance.

$14,000 was approved for Insurance, taxes and licenses, etc.

$25,965 was approved for the establishment of and operation of a Tribal Branch of Records Management.

$5,976 was approved to defray the cost of operation of Council Committees on Education, Placement, Health and Welfare.

$21,312 was approved for travel and per diem of council delegates attending an average of two local meetings a month.

$75,000 was approved for repairing chapter houses and $12.00 per day for chapter officers.

In another section of the budget the following was approved: $4,000 for burials; $8,744 for crippled children at Crownpoint hospital; $6,000 for emergency relief; a carried over fund of $230,000 for clothing for needy school children; $185,000 for general relief for Navajo families; and $600 for administration of the relief fund. It was believed that the $185,000 for relief should be divided among the delegates at about $2,500 each to be distributed in local area where needed most.

$10,000 was voted for travel etc. of the New York Hospital Cornell University Medical team in treating tuberculosis. $2,500 was approved for glasses for school children.

$378, 080 for Law Enforcement was approved. Law enforcement officers are to be increased in number from 50 to 81. $63,967 was adopted for tribal judges and their staff. Fines collected are to be deposited with the Treasurer of the Navajo Tribe.

The resolution for the tribe to furnish police and a Navajo Justice of the Peace for Gallup did not pass.

$9,280 was approved for Social Services Home Counselor. This person would act as a liaison or go-between in behalf of Navajos employed in seasonal work outside the reservation. He would determine whether working or living conditions for workers came up to standard. He would report back to the tribe.

$100,000 was approved for Navajo Tribal Higher Education Scholarships. It was pointed out that the young people must maintain a C grade average after the first semester.

$29,400 was appropriated for the Tribal Fair and Tribal Band. $15,000 of this fund was earmarked for Tribal Fair.

$78,524 was approved for continued operation of the District Grazing Committees.

The Council members were advised to tell the employees of the Santa Fe Railroad of medical care to which they are entitled. Sometimes they leave the job and say nothing about sickness or injury.

$15,704 was voted for the operation of a Credit Office.

$42,844 was approved for the Committees on Resources and Trading and for the Central and Local Loan Committees.

$45,434 was approved for Audit Finance and Trading; $58,150 was approved for the operation of the Mining Office.

$40,000 was approved for Water Development. This includes 109 dug wells and 99 springs in Districts 5, 7, 14, 17 and 18.

$69, 251 was approved for Forestry and Fire Pre-Suppression. $10,000 was to be used for getting rid of Realty was appropriated $25,010. $20,000 was approved for Extension for use in the control of Blue Tongue, Rodents and Insects.

$70,000 was voted for P.M.A. and Range Conservation. $51,600 was voted to establish a Tribal Section of Land Use and Surveys. It will deal with problems about Navajo land, boundaries, etc. It will develop a Navajo Reservation Land Use Code.

$18,662 was approved for maintenance of Tribal property, as motels, houses, etc.

$124,150 was provided for the Tribal Business Management Office.

$20,000 was carried over for building a transient dormitory at Fort Defiance. The first year the cost of operation would be paid partly by the tribe. Then it is supposed to support itself.

$25,000 was left in the well drilling program. This amount was increased back to $250,000.

A resolution was passed permitting the Chairman of the Tribal Council, with the approval of the Advisory Committee and the Secretary of the Interior, to give land for use if it benefitted the tribe.

A resolution was adopted to ratify the special election at Mexican Water when Robert James was named Council delegate.

It was voted if vacancies occur in the Tribal Council the Chairman may appoint a special election supervisor and call a public meeting in any precinct where a vacancy exists. The community may then nominate candidates. They may decide whether it will or will not be a secret vote.

The total approved budget was:
